

kaca

NEWSLETTER

KOREAN AMERICAN COMMUNICATION ASSOCIATION

---

---

Volume 6

Number 2

July

1983

---

---

PRESIDENT-ELECT'S NOTE

Greetings!

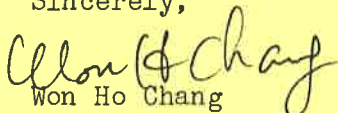

We are looking ahead to have the third joint conference in Seoul next year. I had an unusual opportunity to participate in the annual conference of the Korean Society of Journalism and Communication Studies (KSJCS) last May, and was deeply impressed by the depth and sincerity of their scholarship.

For the coming conference, we have not decided anything, yet. But the following has been suggested, and I would like to have your suggestions or comments.

1. Date: around late May or early June, 1984, when KSJCS plans to hold its annual conference.
2. Topic: Communication 1990
3. Support: We pay our travel expenses, and the conference will arrange the local accommodations.

We are looking forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

Won Ho Chang

PROFESSIONAL

Young Y. Kim, Governors State, completed manuscript for an upper-level college textbook, Communicating with Strangers: An Approach to Intercultural Communication, with W.B. Gudykunst. Kim is also co-editing Intercultural Communication Research (Intercultural and International Communication Annual, Vol. 8) with W.B. Gudykunst. It is to be published by Speech Communication Association and Sage Publications in 1984.

Kim organized and chaired a panel, "Becoming Intercultural: Personal Experiences of Foreign-born Communication Scholars," at the annual conference of International Communication Association, Dallas, May, 1983. Also, presented in the panel a stimulus paper, "Becoming Intercultural."

PERSONAL

Kee Soon Park, Hankook Daily News, Los Angeles, returned to Korea to join Sung Kyun Kwan University as a faculty member in journalism and mass communication in March, 1983.

Yong Sang Park completed Ph.D. dissertation from U of Missouri and returned to Hanyang U to become a faculty member in journalism in March, 1983.

Chong Hyuk Cho, Cal St U-Northridge, returned to Korea to join Kankuk University of Foreign Studies as a faculty member in communication in March, 1983.

D. H. Sunoo, Cal St U, returned to Korea to join Haetae Group as vice-president for overseas affairs.

Wonyong Kim, Texas-Austin, received M.A. degree (thesis: Korean-American Mass Media: An Institutional and Content Analysis).

Young Y. Kim, Governors State, was awarded tenure.

Won Ho Chang, U of Missouri, traveled Korea in May.

Seong H. Lee, Appalachian St, visited Korea in May and June for school business (ASU-Kookmin U exchange program).

MISSOURI-KOREA PROGRAM

Seven Korean journalists participated last year in an exchange program between Missouri J-School and Korean news organizations: Dong Woo Choe (Yonhap News Agency), Jong Il Eun (Yonhap News Agency), Cha Ung Kim (Dong-A Ilbo), Jong Nam Kim (Kwangju Ilbo), In Heung Lee (Pusal Ilbo), Yong Seung Lee (Kyung Hyang) and Tae Ho Song (Kyung Hyang Shinmun)

Six journalists from Korea will attend the 1983-4 program: Hee jo Choe (Dong-A Ilbo), Hee Chin Kim (Korean Economic News), Hung Kil Koh (Joong-Ang Ilbo), Jong Koo Lee (Korea Herald), Yong Soon Shin (Dong-A Ilbo) and Jae Heung Yang (Yonhap News Agency).

Two Missouri students are working in Korea: Pete Engardio (Korea Herald) and Phuil Kurz (Yonhap News Agency).

*****

KACA NEWSLETTER

Vol 6 No 1 July 1983
Editor: Seong Hyong Lee
Dept of Communication Arts
Appalachian State University
Boone, NC 28608